

A Special Report from Rob Minton...

How to Get Paid to Achieve Your Goals in 2019!

Thursday, December 6th, 2018

From: The "Bat Cave" (my home office)

Inside this special report, I'm going to share a unique strategy you can use to actually achieve your most important life goals. Yes, I've timed this report to be released before you make your New Year's Resolutions for 2019!

The reason why is because I want you to use what I share inside this report with your 2019 goals. And if you've struggled accomplishing any of your important goals previously, this may be the most important report you'll ever read.

Even better, if you use the strategy I outline for you, you'll actually get paid a significant amount of money to accomplish your goals in 2019. I realize this may not sound possible. It certainly IS and I'll show you exactly how to do it.

To do so, I have to start with something deeply personal that I haven't shared publically. 2018 has been a very challenging year for me.

Back in March, a loved one tried to commit suicide. Thankfully, he failed. He was suffering from an untreated mental illness. ☹

His family didn't want anyone to know what happened, so he didn't receive any medical treatment. And as you might image, without any medical assistance, his condition continued to get worse.

I finally forced myself into the situation and made the most important sales presentation of my life. This presentation was to my loved one and his wife. The sale I was trying to make was to get him to go to the emergency room with me. When I finally convinced him to get into the car with me, I was literally shaking. Deep down, I knew that if I failed in getting him to go to hospital, he probably wouldn't survive.

At the emergency room, nobody would say what was actually going on. When the doctor asked what was going on, he just said he hadn't been sleeping well. He also said he had been under a lot of stress. These two issues were certainly true, but they weren't telling the entire story. So, I finally stepped up and explained what happened to the doctor. I said what really needed to be said even though it would instantly change their lives.

By telling the doctor that he tried to commit suicide, I started the process of having him involuntarily admitted. He desperately needed help and wouldn't ask for it. He seemed to think that he could handle all of this on his own, which he certainly couldn't. Nobody could.

Mental illness requires professional help, and in many cases, daily medication for life.

The emergency room ended up sending him to a different psychiatric hospital for treatment. He was admitted indefinitely into this hospital for treatment with very limited visitation from his family.

Unfortunately, he didn't receive much help in this hospital. He wouldn't open up and talk about what was going on to the doctors and therapists. The hospital wouldn't force any medication. On top of this, his insurance company was pressuring the hospital to release him, so he was discharged without any therapist, psychiatrist or any medication, meaning we were back to square one, except that he now had over $20,000 in medical bills. ☹

A few weeks later, he tried to commit suicide again.

Thankfully, this second attempt failed, too.

And just like with the first attempt, his wife wouldn't make the call to get him help. She wanted to protect him. So, I made the call.

I sent the police and ambulance to his home and he was involuntarily admitted into a different hospital that forced medication and treatment. This second hospital wasn't as nice as the first one. It was like being in a detention center and housed with some very rough individuals. He wasn't happy to say the least. Neither was his wife. Both of them were extremely upset with me.

This story continues with many more complications; however, as I write this he is home and is doing as best as he possibly can. He does have medication, which he takes sporadically. When I go to hang out with him, I try my best to get him to go to his therapist and psychiatrist but fail repeatedly. He wants nothing to do with doctors, hospitals or therapists and will be fighting this for the rest of his life.

I do have to say that the treatment of mentally ill people is completely flawed here in the States. The mentally ill patient has the ability to refuse medication, which they do consistently. The problem is they aren't thinking accurately and are usually delusional in some way. This means the person who desperately needs help because of their inaccurate thinking is literally in charge of their own treatment... so they don't actually get any help. It is the most frustrating situation and there's absolutely nothing anyone can do about it.

(This may be why we have such a large homeless population. People who desperately need medical help refuse treatment and their family members eventually give up exhausted from the 24/7 battle. A battle that is impossible to win, if the person isn't willing to accept and participate in treatment and counseling).

As you might imagine, there have been many arguments regarding the best course of action for this challenging situation. My relationship with this person and his wife are forever altered because I said what needed to be said – not once, but twice. The reality is that I did what needed to be done, knowing it would change everything going forward, and it certainly has. The truth is that I'd do it all again and will, if I have to.

In the middle of all of this, my partner and good friend from high school was diagnosed with late stage pancreatic cancer. ☹

All of this has been very hard emotionally for me. I've shed many tears, I've lost a lot of sleep and I have felt immense hopelessness with my inability to help either one of these loved ones.

Despite these difficult life challenges (and a few I haven't shared), I've made significant progress on many of my important goals this year. These goals include...

- I've gotten in the best shape of my life.
- I've paid off a lot of debt.
- I've set up automatic systems to make my family's future better financially.
- I've created thousands of dollars of additional monthly cashflow.
- I've learned to live with more mental peace through meditation (One of our Cashflownaire Badass Challenges)
- And I've connected with some amazing people (Cashflownaire Members) that inspire the hell out of me.

Reflecting on the last eleven months, it is very easy for me to see that my Cashflownaire Membership, and the work required to prepare the monthly Newsletters were instrumental to the progress I've made this year.

On some level, writing the newsletter and maintaining the membership forced me to be accountable to what I wanted to achieve this year. The membership forced me "walk the talk" when I had some very good excuses to stop walking.

How can I write about being a BADASS, if I'm not being one myself?

How can I write about creating cashflow, if I'm not creating cashflow myself?

How can I write about paying down debt, if I'm not paying down my debt?

How can I write about getting in the best shape of your life, if I'm not taking action to get in the best shape of my life?

The crazy part is the exact same thing happened with my very first membership business – Income for Life.

Building that first membership and writing the monthly Income for Life newsletter years ago forced me to take a great deal of action... action that generated millions of dollars of revenue. In the span of just a three years, I made well over $5,000,000 – all directly connected to membership I created. This income wasn't all membership income; it flowed from the community I created around the membership.

You might be wondering why I would be sharing all of this????

Here's why...

I honestly believe that creating and building a membership business is the single best strategy you can use to achieve your goals.

The reason why is because it literally FORCES you to do what you need to do. More importantly, it eliminates every excuse you could tell yourself that would allow you stop doing what you need to do.

A membership business forces you to walk your talk because your members will be depending on you.

Over the years, I've hired several different coaches to help keep me accountable. I invested a lot of money into these different coaching programs, but still didn't accomplish anything close to what I accomplished when I was building any of my memberships.

Any coach you hire, including me, gets paid regardless of what you actually do and this is why many coaching programs don't deliver great results. If you don't do what you said you were going to do, it has zero impact on the coach. The coach still gets paid.

This means you're still only accountable to yourself because you're the customer of coaching. You can still easily rationalize not doing what you need to do, and this is exactly what I did in these expensive coaching programs.

If someone is paying you (membership), you now have real accountability. If you don't do what you need to do to lead the membership, they'll cancel their membership and you'll lose your monthly income stream.

A membership business puts YOUR skin in the game. Coaching doesn't.

It still blows my mind, when I really think about this...

We pay coaches thousands (in some cases tens of thousands) of dollars to hold us accountable to the actions we need to take to accomplish our goals. Sadly, this coaching rarely provides any significant change in our behaviors.

However, everything changes when we flip this around. Instead of paying to be held accountable, we get paid to be accountable. Building a membership business also forces a massive change in your behavior that sticks for as long as you continue your membership. Close your membership and your productively plummets.... I know from personal experience.

A membership business, built around your MISSION, pays you to do the things you need to do to achieve your goals. In other words, you get paid for your self-development.

Seriously, think about that for a minute and let it sink in.

This happens because building a membership forces you to become a PRODUCER instead of a CONSUMER.

In 2018, I went through several bottles of Pepto Bismol (seriously), yet I still forced myself to be productive because I didn't have a choice. I had to be productive, because my members were depending on me. I couldn't send them an email saying...

"Sorry, I didn't write a newsletter this month because I've had a few personal challenges. I hope you can understand!"

In fact, a membership business actually presells your future productivity.

As 2019 rolls around, I still am required to walk the talk. I can't let off the gas pedal and coast. This IS the beauty of a membership business. You're locked into productivity for your members.

I realize this may sound a little scary, but I'm being 100% honest.

In my world, the most productive people have membership businesses. Take a second and think about the people you know who have membership businesses and consider their productivity.

You'll see the same "success secret" in action.

Now, let's shift gears and dig into how to build a membership business...

A membership business can be a lot of work, especially if you're starting from scratch. I know because I've started several memberships from scratch and busted my ass each and every time.

One way to make this easier is to create a membership around something very important to you. Something you have a great deal of interest in, passion for, and something you truly enjoy.

For me, I love self-improvement. I love creating cashflow. I love reading and studying different investment strategies. I love learning how to reduce risk. I love figuring how to create cashflow with small investments. I love real estate. I love exercise and fitness. I love lifestyle design.

I've built my Cashflownaire Membership around what I love, around what's important to me. When I work on my membership, it doesn't feel like work. I enjoy everything I do – including writing the newsletters and reports. In fact, each report and article I write is always around something I'm interested in learning and studying.

In addition, I include a new Badass Challenge every month in my Cashflownaire Newsletter. These challenges are always things I want to do – for myself – for my self-improvement. Including a challenge in each newsletter forces me to do them.

My Cashflownaire Membership is THE membership I couldn't find anywhere else. It is THE membership I desperately wanted to find; however, it didn't exist... so I created it myself.

The same opportunity is available for you.

A membership business designed around things you love allows you to get paid to read and study things you're deeply interested in. It forces you to think, analyze, consider and research. It forces you to be productive.

This goes far beyond just money.

Sure, the membership income is awesome; however, who you become in the process of building your membership is far more important.

So....

What do you really love to do?
What do you really love to read and study?
What do you love to think about?
Who do you want to become?
What excites you?
What is your favorite thing to do?

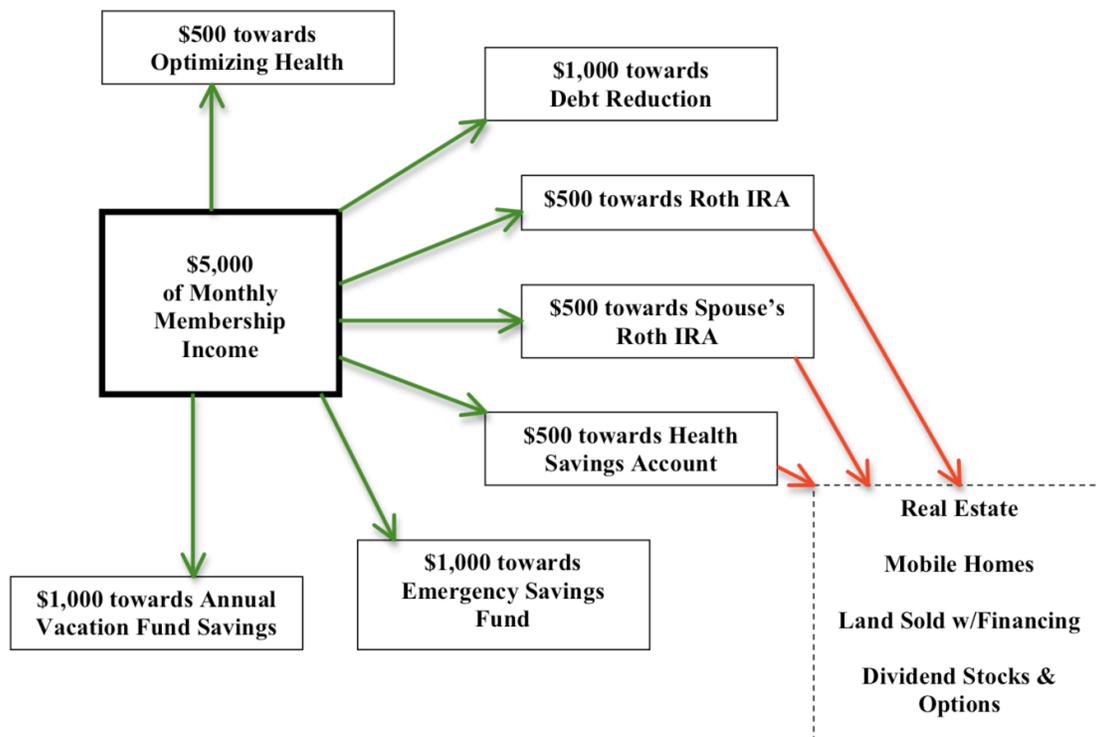

Your answers to these questions become YOUR membership.

List out your most important goals and build your membership around these goals. This is what I've done with my Cashflownaire Membership. In fact, if you're a member, you can easily see what my personal goals are and this is because my goals flow through the entire membership!

The best part is that along the way to accomplishing your goals through your membership, you begin adding tremendous value to the world. You begin helping other people improve their lives and this makes everything infinitely better.

Finally, let's talk about money.

If you decide to start a membership business, my suggestion is to use the monthly membership income you create to automatically fund your financial goals. Consider the example below, which assumes your membership business generates $5,000 of monthly membership income:

Because you'll be getting paid automatically each month from your membership, you can easily set up automatic systems to achieve your financial goals. Have all of your membership income flow into an LLC, or another type of business entity. Set up automatic recurring monthly bill payments from your business entity's bank account to each financial goal you have for yourself.

A Few Examples:

Membership → LLC → $500 automatic monthly bill pay to your IRA.

Membership → LLC → $1,000 automatic monthly bill pay to your mortgage company for an additional principal payment on your mortgage.

Membership → LLC → $1,000 automatic monthly bill pay to your savings account for vacation fund.

The more membership income you create, the more money you can use to fund your other financial goals. Please notice that I'm allocating ALL of your membership income towards your goals. This is intentional and it's to help you get to glorious Position of Fuck You faster.

Each morning when you wake up, you'll find money has automatically been deposited into your business's account...

This fuzzy screenshot is from my email trash folder. Each email is a membership fee automatically processing. You can see that 18 membership fees automatically processed.

You can, and should, use this automatic membership income to automatically fund your financial goals. Once this is set up, you don't have to do anything with regards to money. It all happens automatically while you're busy taking action to build your membership.

Back when I was building my real estate brokerage, I paid myself (and my wife) attractive salaries. These salaries weren't to spend. They were simply created so we could make large contributions to our 401k retirement accounts.

If I remember correctly, we were both contributing $1,500 a month to our individual 401k accounts. This meant we were saving a combined $3,000 a month, or $36,000 a year. The real estate brokerage deducted the salaries for tax purposes and we were able to deduct our 401k contributions in our personal joint tax returns.

The idea was to use the business to fund our retirement savings. You can do something similar with your membership business's income.

In the example on the previous page, you'd be automatically saving $12,000 a year in IRA accounts, you'd be automatically paying down your debt by an extra $12,000 each year, you'd be funding your Health Savings Account with $6,000 a year, you'd be saving $1,000 a month for family vacations and you'd be saving an additional $1,000 a month for emergencies and other unexpected expenses.

All of this means, a membership business may be the most important thing you can do to achieve all of your goals in 2019. It will literally force you to do what you need to do to become the person you want to become.

What I've just shared with you is something most people will never "see." I realize this sounds like a sales pitch (and it certainly is).

However, I'm trying to keep things real for you. If I didn't have to be accountable for my Cashflownaire Membership this year, I honestly wouldn't have accomplished half of what I did in 2018. I certainly wouldn't be in the best shape of my life. I wouldn't have forced myself to do monthly Badass Challenges, and I definitely wouldn't have created the cashflow I created in 2018.

Now, if starting a membership business in 2019 sounds like something you want to do, I may be able to help you. I can help you start your membership business very quickly IF...

- You love investing, cashflow and real estate.
- You're into self-improvement, health and fitness.
- You love wealth building and asset accumulation.
- You're in real estate sales.
- You're in the mortgage business.
- You're in the insurance business.
- You're in the financial planning business.

If you meet any of these criteria, I'll do most of the heavy lifting for you to start your new membership business. You'll still have to roll up your sleeves and work your tail off for the first few months to get your membership business up and running.

It will all be worth it because a membership business is an amazing business. You'll be able to work from anywhere. You'll be able to work whenever you want. You won't have to commute to any office. You'll have location independence. You'll have complete control over your schedule. You won't have to answer to anyone, but your members. And finally, nobody else dictates the amount of money you can make.

Seriously, think about the membership business for a minute...

Each day, membership fees process automatically and the income magically shows up in your bank account. I realize this may sound too good to be true, but it's really how it happens. My merchant account processes the day's auto-charges at 4:30 am. When I wake up each morning there are email receipts for these auto-charges. It puts a smile on my face every damn day.

My real estate investments provide mailbox money. Every time I go to my PO Box, there are rent checks waiting for me. My membership business provides email money. More importantly, this membership income compounds from month-to-month.

Here's how this could look for you, if you start a membership with a monthly membership price of $39.95:

If you enroll 5 new members each month, your monthly membership income will increase by $199.75 EACH month. After just twelve months of enrolling just 5 new members each month, you'll have an automatic monthly recurring income of $2,398.00.

60 members @ $39.95 = $2,398* of MONTHLY RECURRING INCOME

If you enroll 10 new members each month, your monthly membership income will increase by $399.50 EACH month. After just twelve months of enrolling just 10 new members each month, you'll have an automatic monthly recurring income of $4,794.

120 members @ $39.95 - $4,794.00* OF MONTHLY RECURRING INCOME

If you enroll 20 new members each month, your monthly membership income will increase by $799 EACH month. In just twelve months of enrolling 20 new members each month you'd have an automatic recurring monthly income of $9,588.00

240 members @ $39.95 = $9,588.00* of MONTHLY RECURRING INCOME

You only start off at $0.00 of income in your very first month. It gets better every month from this point forward. As you continue to build your membership, your monthly recurring income snowballs.

If you were to just enroll ONE new member each week in 2019 at $39.95, you'd have a monthly membership income of $2,077.40 at the end of the year. How hard would it be to get ONE new member a week?

Are you starting to see why I'm writing so much about the membership business?

It's the fastest way to create an attractive, risk-free monthly cashflow that doesn't require a large investment to start. You can start a stand-alone membership, or you can engineer a membership around an existing business.

This is what I did when I was struggling to build my real estate brokerage. I got fed up with my business's income resetting at $0.00 each month. We'd sell a bunch of homes this month and be back at zero next month. It was a never-ending cycle of starting over each and every month that ended up making me hate my business.

So back in 2004, I created a membership and used this membership as a tool to provide a stable flow of recurring monthly income into my business that wasn't dependent upon any real estate sales. The membership I created actually led to hundreds of additional home sales making my brokerage very profitable.

You can build your membership business around an existing real estate, mortgage, insurance, or financial planning business, if you have one. Or, you can simply build a new stand-alone membership business. The cool part is you don't need another business. If you have one, it will make it much better, but you can build a very profitable stand alone membership business, which is what I did recently with my Cashflownaire Membership.

Now, to keep things 100% real, there are challenges to a membership business. The two biggest challenges to creating your own membership business are as follows:

1. Creating the monthly membership content.

For my Cashflownaire Membership, I write a 12-Page Cashflownaire Newsletter. I also write another 10 to 14-Page Bonus Report. Combined these two items require approximately 24-Pages of content. In addition, I also send 16 to 25 daily emails to my list each month.

If you'd like to start a membership related to investing, real estate, financial planning, or wealth building, I will provide the majority of the content for you each month.

In 2018 I quietly launched a done-for-you membership with the fancy shmancy name of “Assetnaire.” This done-for-you membership includes a 10-page Assetnaire newsletter (You can use this name, or you can simply change the name of your membership to anything you want). The 10-page Assetnaire newsletter is written around Ben Franklin’s old theme of... “Healthy, Wealthy and Wise” and this is to give you the ability to use the membership around any investment or health related business, if you so choose.

In addition to the 10-Page Assetnaire newsletter, you’ll also have license rights to use my special investing bonus reports included as your own. These bonus reports are typically 14 to 16 pages long and detail one strategy your members will be able to use to build wealth. They’re content packed and will help members see you as an expert. You’ll have license rights to remove my name and contact information and use your information as the author of the report.

These two done-for-you items will provide the majority of your monthly membership content, and as you’ve probably considered, are very similar to what I provide in my Cashflownaire Membership. Both the Assetnaire Newsletter and the monthly Bonus Report will be provided to you in Microsoft Word. You’ll be able to customize everything however you wish for your membership including adding, removing, editing anything within the newsletters and reports.

My suggestion would be to add a few pages to your done-for-you Assetnaire Newsletter around things you’re interested in and around your goals. This could include case studies of your investments. It could include monthly challenges you’re working on for yourself. It could include special classes or tours you’re doing. Or you could even sell space in your newsletter to other professionals.

You’ll also have the ability to add any additional membership bonuses or content that you want to include. If you’re into health and fitness, you can include workouts, meal plans, smoothie recipes, videos and offers for your personal training services.

If you have an existing real estate or mortgage business, you can highlight different investment opportunities. You can add special reports or videos designed to help your business. You can use your membership as a lead conversion tool for your other businesses. Or if you don’t want to mess around with having to write any additional content yourself, you can simply embed YouTube videos or link to articles you’ve read during the month that you enjoyed.

Let’s move on to the second challenge you’ll face with regards to starting a membership....

2. Getting new members.

Every business, including a membership business, needs new customers. Over the years,

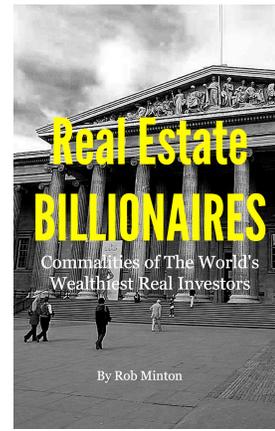

I've developed a particular set of skills that will help you attract and enroll new members.

(Yes, that was stolen from the movie Taken)!

In addition to providing the majority of the content for your Assetnaire Membership, I will provide you with a comprehensive marketing system you can use to build your membership.

The marketing system I've created for you is the exact same as what I use for my Cashflownaire Membership. It starts with your own book and flows through to a done-for-you sales letter to sell your Membership.

Your done-for-you book is titled, "Real Estate Billionaires: Commonalities of the World's Wealthiest Investors." It's 90-pages and details wealth commonalities amongst John Jacob Astor, Hetty Green, Conrad Hilton, Arnold Schwarzenegger, and Sam Zell.

These wealthy individuals have all built wealth by accumulating income-producing assets! Hence the membership name of the membership.... Assetnaire.

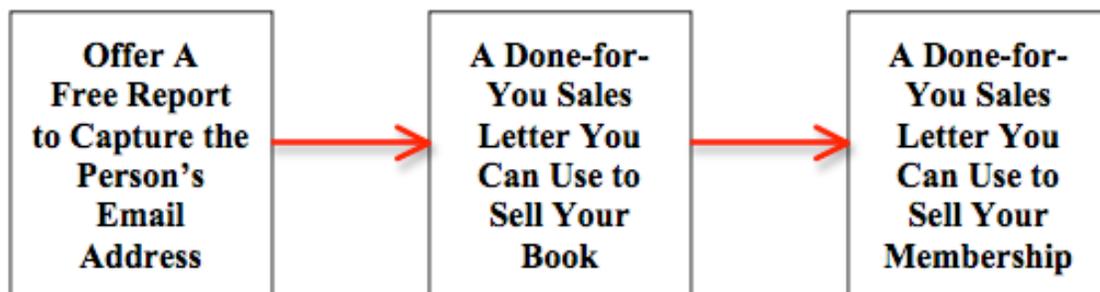

The membership is obviously an extension of the ideas found in your done-for-book. Everything is designed to motivate the reader and member to take action to build wealth.

You can market your done-for-you book as a lead generation tool to build a database of prospects for your membership. Obviously, someone interested in learning how to build wealth that buys your book would be a perfect prospect for your Assetnaire membership.

For my Cashflownaire Membership, I promote my book "The Cashflownaire Plan." The membership is an extension of my book. Anyone who buys my book is a prime prospect for my Cashflownaire Membership.

I've created the exact same marketing system for you.

But I've even taken it one step further by creating the following 3-Step Marketing Funnel you can use to build your membership:

Here's the sneaky part...

I've turned each chapter in your done-for-you book into a free report that you can use to generate leads for your membership business. Each free report (book chapter) includes dozens of done-for-you lead generation advertisements you can use to attract leads for the free report.

When someone opts in to get one of your free reports, you'll now have a new lead for your book. You can take them to your book sales letter. If they buy your book, you can then take them to your Assetnaire Membership sales letter. You'll have two separate offers you can use to move them into your membership.

Even if the person, who opts in for one of your free reports, doesn't buy your book or join your membership when they initially request your free report, you'll still have their email address and will be able to email them going forward promoting your membership.

This is exactly what I do... and...um, it works very well.

My daily emails slowly-but-surely move prospects on my list into my Cashflownaire Membership. The crazy part is that I don't care if someone buys my book or joins my membership when they first find me.

The reason why is I'll convert many of them into members eventually.

You're Probably Wondering How Much This Done-for-You Membership & Marketing System Will Cost?

The initial price for the entire Three-Step Marketing Campaign including your 8 free report marketing campaigns, your done-for-you Real Estate Billionaires book, your done-for-you sales letters, your first month of done-for-you membership newsletters and all of the new member bonuses is $897. This price is to increase to $1,297 at some point in early 2019.

The ongoing monthly service fee for your done-for-you monthly Assetnaire Membership Newsletter and Bonus Reports is just $197 a month.

Abbreviated List of What's Included...

Complete Assetnaire Member Attraction System – including:

- 8 complete different free report marketing campaigns
- Hundreds of free report lead generation advertisements
- Referral marketing templates
- Website templates & more

Your Done-For-You 90-page “Real Estate Billionaires” Book – including:

- Complete use rights to use the book as your own.
- A done-for-you sales letter you can use to sell your book

The Done-For-You Assetnaire Membership – including:

- A powerful sales letter you can use to enroll members into your membership
- All of the new member bonuses you’ll give to your members valued at $1,197.00
- Your first month’s done-for-you Assetnaire newsletter & bonus report
- How to enroll new members using daily emails

Considering everything you’ll receive instantly, I could obviously charge several thousand dollars upfront. However, I’ve decided to keep the price at the bare minimum for four important reasons:

1. I really do want to help you create more monthly income as outlined in Step #1 in my Cashflownaire Plan. This membership income can be used to automatically fund your financial goals, as I’ve outlined in this report.

2. I honestly believe creating your own membership is the single best way to accomplish your goals. It forces you to be accountable to yourself. Plus, you’ll actually get paid to achieve your goals!

3. The price is so low because there are absolutely NO REFUNDS. I’m providing thousands of dollars of intellectual property (book, sales letters, member newsletters, etc.) that required months of my time to create. I’m not going to hand this over to someone who asks for a refund two weeks later.

Truth be told, I’m not interested in trying to help wishy-washy people. If you decide to launch this membership, you have to be committed to making it work. If you’re not 100% committed, don’t bother getting involved. This isn’t something you’re going to “try.” This is something you will DO.

I don’t have time or patience for indecisive people. You’re either IN or you’re OUT. There is no in-between with the important things in life.

4. I will provide you with just about everything you’ll need to get started. However, you will have a lot of work to get your membership started including:

- You’ll have to set up your free report lead generation opt-in web pages. I’ve provided template pages for you to copy, but you’ll need to get your own pages up and running.

- You’ll have to set up your done-for-you book sales letter page. I’ll provide the sales letter copy for you; but you’ll need to get your book sales letter online.

- You'll have to set up your done-for you membership sales letter page. I'll provide the sales letter copy for you and all of your new member bonuses, but you'll need to put your membership sales letter online.

- You'll also need your own merchant account so that you can automatically charge your new members their monthly membership fees.

In essence, I'll provide all of the content for you new membership including: done for you free reports, done-for-you lead generation advertisements, done-for-you book, done for you sales letters, done for you new member bonuses and done-for-you monthly member newsletters and bonus reports.

You'll need to put everything I give you into action.

Remember, I said your membership business would require work just like my Cashflownaire Membership requires my work, too. However, the work you'll do IS definitely worth it because you'll have the ability to dramatically increase your monthly cashflow.

My mentor, Dan Kenney teaches a concept he calls "Future Banking." I've taken his concept to mean the following:

When you enroll a new member into your done-for-you membership, you'll get paid on the day they enroll. You'll also be setting up future monthly income from this member... future bank deposits.

If you price your membership at $39.95 per month, each new member will be worth $479.40.40 of future annual income to you (FUTURE BANKING)!

Now, if you setup systems to just enroll 4 new members a month (just one new member a week), this will translate into $1,917.60 of future annual income created EACH month.

My hope is that you'll use this income we create together to implement my 3 Step Cashflownaire Plan. I want you to eliminate your need to work for a paycheck or a commission check. I want to help you pay off all of your debt. I want to help you build a financial fortress for your family.

This means you're not going fritter away the monthly membership income we create together:

- No expensive cars.
- No big house.
- No boat, motorcycle, RV.
- No second home.

Nope... none of this.

Your mission, should you choose to accept it, is to turn everything I give you into significant monthly income. You'll use this income to build a financial fortress for your family!

P.S. If you've been unhappy with the progress you've been making towards your financial goals, think seriously about what I've shared in this special report. Having a membership business really does force you to take action because your members will be depending on you. It IS the single best accountability tool you set-up for yourself.

P.P.S. I've obviously opened up the doors to this done-for-you membership business a few weeks before the end of this year. This is intentional for two reasons:

1. You can set up your new membership business over the next few weeks and you'll be ready to go for January 1st, 2019. Why not start the new year running?
2. You can (and should) build your membership around your 2019 goals. Hopefully, you've put some thought into what you want to accomplish next year. Let's build your membership around your goals.

Important Disclosure:

* The income stated in this report is an example of what is possible with a membership business. My results are not typical. I started my first membership way back in 2004. I built this first membership to over 400 members before selling the business. I have since started several different membership businesses and have a great deal of business and marketing experience. Your results may vary depending on many factors... including your level of implementation, the amount of time you invest into creating this business, your ability to set up website pages and your ability to generate new leads. The reality is you may not actually make any money starting your own membership.
